[Redacted]

1. [Redacted] all but 500 KVPs had left the Prora installation and had allegedly moved to the Berlin area. 25X1
2. On 15 August 1953, no activity was noticed at the KVP installation at Prora. 25X1

[Redacted] The brick buildings seemed to quarter only few men. About 100 rectangular house tents, whose side parts were rolled up, were in the area west of the Binz-Neustaphel road. [Redacted] target ranges for rifles and machine guns at this site. Some officers wore red patches, while all enlisted men, who belonged to very young classes, wore black service color. No motor vehicles were at the parking lot at the southeast entrance, where still in mid-July, [Redacted] over 100 trucks. 25X1
3. [Redacted] only tank and artillery units were still stationed at Prora. [Redacted] that three infantry regiments moved to Berlin and that other units went to the Bitterfeld, Neustrelitz and Neubrandenburg areas. 25X1
4. [Redacted] 25X1

From early August to mid-August the unit moved to the Oranienburg area and was assigned security missions. The unit had left only a rear group of the size of a battalion at Prora. 25X1A

1. Comment. The information confirms previous information that the bulk of the three infantry regiments of the Prora division has been committed in Berlin since early August. It is believed that mainly artillery and tank units were stationed at Prora at the time of information. Most of the other statements are incorrect and/or cannot be checked.
